Projects

History:

From Colonial Kids: An Activity Guide to Life in the New World

1. Knot Tying p. 13
2. Building a Sailing Ship pp. 9 – 12
3. Make a compass p. 16
4. Quick Outfit (boys) p. 22
5. Make an apron (girls) p. 23
6. Make a Rag Rug pp. 28 – 29
7. Make a Hornbook pp. 106 – 107

8. Make burdens to wear, like Christian, in Dangerous Journey. Take a paper grocery bag and stuff it with newspaper. Close the bag by stapling or taping the top. Staple rope, twine or yarn to each side of the bag so that it looks like a backpack. Have your child wear the bag like a backpack while reading the book, then remove the burden when Christian removes his burden.

From Food and Recipes of the Thirteen Colonies

9. "Hasty Pudding" p. 11
10. "Dutch Walnut-Cinnamon Squares" p. 17

11. Bake Goody O'Grumpity's Spice Cake

Follow the recipe at the end of Goody O'Grumpity to bake a cake together.

12. Draw Write Now, Book 3: Native Americans, North America, Pilgrims

Habilitzel, Marie & Stitzer, Kim
ISBN 0963930737
$10.95(PB) - Retail

Use this book for learning to draw, practicing handwriting and useful information about the time period. Adaptable for first grade and up.

Science:

From What Makes a Magnet?

12. Magnet Fishing pp. 8 – 9
13. Make Your Own Magnet pp. 12 – 14
14. Magnet Discoveries pp. 26 – 27

15. What Sticks to a Magnet?

Have your child take a magnet and explore the house, locating items to which the magnet can stick. You may want to have him record his finds by drawing them or making a list.

From Solids, Liquids and Gases

16. Balloon Blow-up p. 4
17. Ice Fishing p. 10
18. Water Wonder p. 14
19. Empty Glass Trick p. 18
20. Strong Air p. 20
21. Indoor Rain p. 24
22. Ooblik p. 28

23. The phases of water

Use water as an example of a substance that can be a liquid, gas or solid. Boil some water to demonstrate the steam or gas, and use an ice cube to demonstrate the solid. Discuss the different properties of each with your child. Can he hold them? Do they fit in a glass? Do they take the shape of a glass?

24. Make a weathervane.

Follow the directions in Feel the Wind to make a weathervane.

25. The attributes of the wind

If you have a windy day, stand outside and talk with your child about how the wind blows. Can he see the wind or just the effects of what the wind is doing? You can relate this to God in that we can't see Him in physical form (except as Jesus Christ), but we can see His creation and what He is doing in our lives.

26. Blowing strong!

If you don't have a naturally windy day, you can use a fan for this project. Ask your child to predict from a selection of household items (a book, a piece of paper, a toothpick, a towel, etc.) which will be blown by the air and which will not. Records the predictions and check your results.

27. Build a simple kite.

Follow the directions in Catch the Wind! to build your own kite.

28. Start a rock collection.

Pick up rocks as you find them on walks or when playing. Use the descriptions in Let's Go Rock Collecting to label your rocks as igneous, metamorphic or sedimentary.
